Portland Summer Concert Series Kicks Off in The Square with Three Sold-Out Shows

PORTLAND, Ore. – (June 21, 2022) – Pioneer Courthouse Square (The Square) and True West, one of the leading independent concert promoters and event producers in the Pacific Northwest, launched its PDX LIVE concert series with three sold-out shows this past weekend. PDX LIVE opened with Indigo Girls, Iron & Wine and Tenacious D. Tickets are still available for Modest Mouse, The Roots, Interpol, The Shins, Spoon and others, as part of the 17 shows planned for the iconic downtown location known as Portland’s Living Room.

More than 9,000 people took in the first three shows in Pioneer Courthouse Square and more than 50,000 concert-goers are expected to attend the concerts downtown, now through September 18.

All concerts will take place outdoors on the bricks at 701 SW 6th Avenue, bordered by Broadway, Yamhill, 6th Avenue, and Morrison in Downtown Portland. The venue will be fenced with multiple entrances. Bands play from a stage on the Square’s northeast corner, across from The Nines, as the surrounding buildings glow from the dynamic concert lighting. Concert-goers can enjoy food and drinks from the Carts on the Square and a satellite bar and beer trailer.

Prices for shows range from $40 to $60 with 3,000 tickets available for each performance.
This new concert series has been produced by the team from True West, known for programming the Aladdin Theater, Revolution Hall, Oregon Zoo and Woodland Park Zoo in recent years.

“We started dreaming this up during the pandemic and it is a total rush to see it come to life with three sold-out shows on the first weekend,” said Trevor Solomon, talent buyer at True West and former director of MusicfestNW when it was held at The Square. “There is clearly pent up excitement for attending live shows. This lineup is just what Downtown Portland needs and we are so excited to watch the reaction and participation.”

The series was first announced in January and the number of confirmed shows has more than tripled since the beginning of the year.
